PROJECTS

Always Sunny Random Episode Generator – This is a webapp that allows users to click a button that will bring up a random episode from the show "It's Always Sunny in Philadelphia". This was done with an API from tvmaze.com, that I call from with JavaScript.

My Website – This is my personal website to promote my skills and work.

MyTouringPal (Repo) – This is my final project for my Web Systems Development course. It uses Python via the Django framework, HTML and CSS. I created a webapp that lets you create an account, and request to play at a set list of venues via a request form that can be approved or denied by an admin.

Injury Prevention Exercises for Knees – This is a feature I produced and edited for New York Road Runners as a part of their HSS Exercise Series. (camera operator, editor, graphics creator, audio engineer)

Tigray Genocide Feature – This is a feature I was an audio engineer on field for, as well as edited, color corrected, and created graphics for in post-production. (audio engineer, editor, graphics creator)

How to use Mobile PPs – This is a tutorial series for Daily Racing Form's newest feature: Mobile Past Performances. (Producer, editor, audio engineer)

Out of the Gate – During my time at Daily Racing Form, I co-created this weekly horse racing analysis show from the ground up with a small team of producers, including writing the main theme song. As lead producer, I would oversee the entire production for quality control as well as produce, direct and edit.
